New Fall Suits and Coats

continue to arrive daily. One important element in reference to the new suit fashions is that you need not worry as to whether the style of garment you buy now will be worn later.

Fashion authorities have co-operated to a greater extent this season than ever, and in consequence of which the beautiful, pleasing designs which have been created will continue throughout the season. This season, especially, there is much satisfaction and added service in buying early.

An Energetic Vermont Woman.

The enterprise shown by Mrs. M. C. Brigham in bringing summer boarders to her Allendale farm is a shining example of what others might do if they were endowed with the same amount of pluck. As her number of tourists increase each season it also proves the visitors are pleased, and on their return here each summer, bring others with them. There should be a colony of cottages in the beautiful section in which Allendale farm is situated. The section is well adapted for it. The larger the colony the more the people would come. Tourists from different sections like to get together—just as they do in the West or South—for all are of the same mind and purpose. It only wants a certain amount of energy to bring about the desired results. Mrs. Brigham not only has the energy, but the faculty of bringing about the results and if a few more were like her in this respect we might have a modern hotel.—Newport Express.

Methodists Plan to Raise Fund for Aged Ministers.

The committee appointed at the last session of the Methodist conference of Vermont for the purpose of raising a fund for the aged ministers of the church, and styled as the conference claimant endowment fund committee, met at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the vestry of Trinity church. Three hours were passed in discussing the ways and means of raising the money this fall and after considerable thought upon plans suggested to raise it by making a thorough canvass of each district. Many details of the plans were discussed, after which the committee adjourned. Those attending were Rev. R. E. Love of St. Johnsbury, Rev. W. B. Dukeshire of St. Albans, Rev. W. E. The bride was formerly Miss Grace Wheeler of this city. They were attended by Miss Margaret Wheeler, sister of the bride, and Albert Taisey, brother of the groom. The bride wore white crepe de chine with georgette crepe and carried bride's roses, while her maid was gowned in pink silk and carried carnations. They will make their home in Barre. The bride lived many years here. She is a graduate of the high school and had been employed as seamstress for the western part of Vermont for a few years, while the groom, who is a native of Chazy, N. Y., has lived for some years in Barre. He is employed as tool sharpener at the Johnson & Gustafson stonemason. Among those who attended the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Taisey of Barre, George and Dean Wheeler of Dexter, Mass.

Fire Chief W. A. Patten returned last evening from Providence, R. I., where he has been attending the annual meeting of the fire chiefs' convention. There was a large delegation from all of the New England states excepting Vermont. The only ones attending from Vermont were Mr. Patten, Chief F. J. Guerin of St. Albans, Chief Stockwell of Burlington and Chief Alexander Eddie of Northfield. Chief Guerin of St. Albans was appointed vice-president from Vermont. The convention was one of the best which the Vermonters have attended. There was a large attendance from the western states. In order that they might get to their homes before Labor day, when a strike was feared, a solid session occurred Thursday.

Sheriff and Mrs. F. H. Tracy have returned from Highgate Springs, where they spent Sunday. Mr. Tracy obtained a large mud turtle in what is known as Dead creek, near the bay, and brought it home with him. It weighed about 75 pounds and its shell was about two feet by 18 inches. It had a tail nearly a foot long and is said to be the largest one seen at Highgate in years. After reaching here the turtle was given to Paul Scampini, who wanted to exhibit it in Barre.

Deputy Sheriff A. A. Emery was in Marshfield Tuesday afternoon, where he investigated a complaint relative to Leonard Rathburn not caring for his son. Rathburn was in city court a few weeks since on the charge of non-support of his two children and after pleading guilty to the offense promised if the sentence was stayed that he would give them proper care. Mr. Emery placed the son Tuesday in the care of his aunt and arranged that if Rathburn did not pay a stated sum of $3 a week promptly to the aunt that he would be taken to the house of correction to work out the sentence. It was also arranged that he must give the daughter proper care, which he promised to do.

Probation Officer C. A. Smith was in Northfield Tuesday afternoon during the trial of L. Bussiere on the charge of breach of peace before Justice of Peace S. H. Kent. The man was found guilty and sentenced to serve not less than two nor more than three months in the county jail and to pay the costs of prosecution. When he had paid these the sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation. It appears that Monday night he asked Chief of Police Donahue to go after his wife for him, but in view of the fact that the woman was in Bussiere's brother's home he did not go and then Bussiere abused the officer, causing considerable disturbance, which resulted in his landing in jail. He was let off with a light sentence.

Harry C. Shortleff has been appointed by Judge H. B. Howe of the United States district court as United States commissioner with offices at Montpelier, the purpose being to have a commissioner near the place of court sittings.
